A BOLD thief had the hardihood this morn ing to climb over the hydrant at the back of West Point police-station and enter the Chinese quarters with a view of clearing off what he could find there, The attempt was made at a time when he thought the rooms would not be watched. Fortunately, however, one of the lukongs returned from duty an hour earlier than usual that day and discovered the intruder in the act o clutching some shoes. He gave chase and captured the man just as the Inspector was hurrying up to see who had invaded his premises. The thief was brought before the Magistrate to-day, and was sentenced to three months imprisonment.

His Excellency said :- Ladies and gentle men.-It must be very gratifying to the promoters of this scheme that we have in showing the great interest that all classes take in the establishment of a College of Medicine for the Chinese at Hongkong project. It involves not only the attempt to promote medical science amongst Chinese follow-citizens, but it involves the grand object of spreading the gospel medical science, of medicine and sanitation, throughout the whole of China. China. although it has a population of great intelligence, we all know is not very much ealightened about medical science or sanitation, because they have never turned their attention to those subjects. Now, the object of this College that we have in view is to take this matter up, and to form agencies and societies all over China, and to see what we can possibly do to alleviate all that immense amount of property saved by that work can hardly bodily suffering there is in the country. It ticulars; we shall bear, I am quite sure, an address from the Dean of the College which will make us theroughly conversant with the organisation and the system under which this College is to be started. imagine that this meeting has been called are careless of praise, they rather sprink together chiefly to see what support can be from it ; they are eitent about their deeds the place of the defunct Humane So- obtained from the Colony; and I think everybody must confess that the object is so worthy of all our energies that everybody will do his best not only to support the limitin ion within the Colony. but also to appeal for and near to their friends in every direction to help us : because this is not morely a local institution : it is of great imperial importance. .. It must have a tondency to show our neighbours that England is a country that wishes well to everybody (applause). We are not aselfish nation; we do all we possibly can. within our means to make our fellow-creatures in every part of the world happy and comfortable. If there is any object which we ought to have fully at heart, surely it is the object of alleviating all this immense amount of misery which attaches to a want That a belief is working its way into the of proper knowledge of medical science. (applause): With these few words I will now call upon my friend the Dean of the College to give us his inaugural address.

The Dean (Dr Manson), who was received with foud applause, then delivered the following address :--

Your Excellency, Ladies and Gentlemen :- The Senatus of the Hongkong College of Medicine for the Chinese has asked you to meet us for these ressons :-That we may announce the fact that a school of medicine has been established in Hongkong. 2. That we may have an opportunity of explaining to those interested in such matters the object constitution, and plans of the school; and 3. That we may enlist your sympathy and, at the same time, gain through you publicity for what we believe is an im-In virtue of my office as Dean of the College Lam spokesman for my colleagues.

Although Hongkong has been a Crown

Colony since 1841, and its population and prosperity have steadily and rapidly increased; and although hospitals for the treatment of the Chinese have been for years established and are flourishing in nearly all of the Treaty-Ports and in many other towns of the Empire, yet, in Hongkong, which ought to be a centre of light and guidance to China in all matters pertaining to civilization, it was not until this year that a Hospital devoted to the treatment of Chinese on foreign principles was opened. It is true that before this there were hospitals of a sort. But the Tung Wah Hospital, according to European notions of what a hospital ought to be, is not up to the proper standard, and is, by te constitution and the spirit of many f its directors and supporters, closed to Enropean methods of cure and administration; and the Government Civil Hespital, besides having associations of a kind not pleasing or attractive to the native mind, is too rigidly foreign in its ways and discipline to suit the great majority of the rick Chinese. Attempts have been made from time to time to supply what was felt to be a public want, but it was not until Pebruary this year that they were consummated. As soon as the Alice Memorial Hospital was opened, its erection received its justification; the beds were at once filled and crowds of out patients camefor treatment. Its success was established within a month of its being opened. In this Hospital the care of the sick devolves on four of the civil practitioners of the town, on a native house-surgeon, and on a staff of dressers or students. To qualify. the latter properly to discharge their duties :they require a certain amount of teaching. If we have to teach a few we may as well each a larger number. The same staff and time will do for 60 as is required for 6. Hence has arisen the idea of forming a school of medicine within this Hospital, with these medical men and these students or dressers for a nucleus. The practice of the Hospital is amply sufficient for educational purposes; but as the task of teaching medicine and the associated sciences would be too much for four men, who have other duties to attend to, they have associated with them other teachers, each of whom has a special subject to attend to, one which his previous training and his tastes qualify him to teach.

In order to enable them to receive instruction in English, a preliminary knowledge of that language is demanded of the students. In this respect most of them have qualified in the Government Central School. There appears to be little difficulty in getting atudents; they are already oumerous enough to form a respectable-sized class. After a four or more years' course of study these who come up to a certain standard of proficiency, as tested in written and oral examinations, will receive the licence or certificate of the College qualifying them to practise in its name.

His Excellency the Acting Governor pre The Government of the College will be carried on by the Rector, who hereafter is to be elected annually by the students; s General Council of all teachers and graduates (or as many of them as can) who will meet once a year to discuss and decide matters of general interest affecting the College : a Senatus, composed of the whole of the teaching staff, which will arrange the curriculum and the details of the teaching plans; and, a Court, composed of the Rector, a representative of the Senatus, s representative of the Alice Memorial Hosital, the standing legal Commet of the Jollege, the Dean and a Secretary; these Such, then, briefly, is the origin, and constitution of the College. The object of it, of course, is the spread of medical science in China z the relief of antiering, the prolongation of life, and, as far as hygiene can effect this, the increase of comfort during The desirability of this passes without question; but I can conceive that there may, be objectors to Hongkong saddling taelf with the task. They may say, why has the attempt not been launched in Chinese territory, -in Peking, Tientsin, Shanghai, Canton, or some or all of these or other centres of Chinese life ! Well attempts at medical teaching have been made and are being made at these and other great towns, but hitherto their success has been very partial indeed; and, principally, for the reason that at these places the teachers are too few in number—only one, or two, or at most three-a number quite inadequate for such an undertaking view to see such a very large assembly, even if backed by enthusiasm and health. That individual teachers have worked very hard and done a very great deal in this sort of work is true. It is only necessary to recall (Applause). Some say it is a very ambitious | Dr Hobson's admirable labours; or to point to Kerr in Cauton, McKenzie in Tientsin, Myers in Formosa, and many others, less known but none the less noble, to prove that there is no lack of effort. But-the effort is individual and not organised. Each little school depends on the health, the energy, the caprice, or the life of one man. Its work may, therefore, be interrupted at any moment and the immature results dissipated. I have known in my time one, or two, or perhaps three men who have thus devoted themselves to medical teaching and medical work among the Chinese, and who to me are the noblest types of humanity. HOW PILLS ARE MADE. The oustom of taking medicine in the formfof pills dates far back in history. The object is to enable us to swallow easily in a condensed form disagreeable and nauscous. but very useful, drugs. To what vast dimensions pill-taking has grown may be imagined when we say that in England as the demand was comparatively small To-day they are produced with infinitely contrived for the purpose, and with greater necuracy, too, in the proportions of the various ingredients employed.

No form of medication can be better a pill, provided only it is; intelligently prepared. But right here occurs the difficulty. Basy as it may seem to make a pill, or a OFFICES or STORES. million of them, there are really very few pills that can be honestly commended for popular use. Most of them either undershoot or overshoot the mark. As everybody takes pills of some kind, it may be well to mention what a good, safe, and reliable pill should be. Now, when one feels dull and sleepy, and has more or less pain in the head, sides, and back, he may be sure his bowels are constipated, and his liver sluggish. To remedy this unhappy state of things there is nothing like a good cathartic pill. It will not like a charm by stimulating-the liver into doing its duty
